ANNEX 2: FNSW STATE TEAM CULTURE

Developing a team culture is of high importance to FNSW to develop an environment within the program that not only develops a player's footballing talent, but also enables leadership qualities and individual responsibility on a personal level.

Developing effective team culture is achieved by establishing leaders within the team. The goal and objective is to identify a leadership group for each team.

Traditionally, football teams have one leader, a captain, appointed by the coach. Whilst recognising the importance a captain plays within a team, FNSW believes that establishing a group of leaders, rather than having just one individual leader, is far more effective. Reasons for this include;

- Increased leadership responsibilities amongst the team;
- Enabling the team to have more than one leader on the field at any one time; and
- The ability to challenge members of the team without excluding one member alone.

In the FNSW State Teams Program, the Leadership Group is appointed by its peers through a voting system. In addition to identifying leaders, the process is important in developing and fostering players for future representative teams.

ESTABLISHING THE LEADERSHIP GROUP

- Step 1: Players will complete a leadership nomination form. Players elect team mates on the basis of who they identify as a leader. The point system is a 3, 2, 1 based system.
- Step 2: A Leadership Group will be formed of between 3-4 players. One player from among that group will be appointed the Team Captain.
- Step 3: Tasks will be assigned to the Leadership Group with individual roles being assigned to each member of that group as well as to the Leadership Group as a whole.

MENTORING THE LEADERSHIP GROUP

The Head Coach and staff will mentor the Leadership Group throughout the training process and competition. The Head Coach will convene team meetings after training/camps/competition. These meeting will be conducted with all staff present and include the Head Coach's address, Leadership Group agenda items and a brief individual verbal assessment to the team.
